- Copy feature now works not only with the current verses but with user defined highlighted passages
- Possibility to choose Command toolbar position (top/bottom)
- Improved Select Commentary feature - works with an expandable list of icons for selecting commentaries for a more compact view.

Bible With You is a powerful Bible reader for Pocket PC PDAs allowing not only reading and studying the complete texts of the Bible, but also using commentary resources, cross-references and original language resources. Even challenges like the complete version of Mathew Henry's commentaries are not a hindrance for the excellent performance of the reader. The application can be installed in the RAM as well as on a Storage Card.

Bible With You is equally convenient for reading as well as for studying the Bible. The user interface is easy-to-use and intuitive.

The biblical texts are presented in rich text, combining bold, italic, colors and multiple font sizes. You could adjust the reading preferences according to your needs. The Apply bold formatting feature enforces bold format for the whole text (helpful for users with poor eyesight) and font size remapping increases/decreases the font size. The reading of the Bible is especially facilitated by the Reading mode, allowing you to define a set of reading preferences (font size appropriate for reading longer passages, hiding Strong's numbers and other information that, while useful when you do a research, might distract your attention from the text itself). Thus, next time you decide to read the Bible (whether following a plan or not) you will already have your reading preferences saved and will fully concentrate on the reading. Using the Ribbon feature you can easily follow a Bible reading plan. The ribbons are automatically updated bookmarks showing the place you stop your reading. The Auto Scroll and the Screen Wrap features help you fully concentrate on the text.

While, when reading the Bible, you would like to concentrate on the text, when you study the Bible by yourself or when you take your Bible With You on church or at the prayer meeting, you would probably prefer to have information like footnotes and Strong's numbers visible and ready to be used. You might also prefer a different font size than the one you use for reading. That is why Bible With You allows setting different study-oriented preferences for a Study mode and you can switch between Study and Reading without changing preferences all the time. The navigation in Study mode also differs from this in the Reading mode. You can choose between the Select Bible Verse feature (consequently choose book, chapter and verse) and the Graffiti navigation. The uniqueness of this feature is the opportunity for navigating not only within the active book by drawing chapter and verse numbers in the Number area, but also to choose a Bible book through drawing the corresponding letter abbreviation.

Helpful features for your Bible study are also the possibility for taking Notes, the Bookmarks (allowing categories), cross-references appearing as pop-ups, cross-references and Strong's definitions working as hyper links, as well as with the Compare study mode.

In Bible With You 6.0 you will find still other study oriented functionality like the possibility to use the available Bible Cross References databases with different translations. For example, you can follow the NASB cross references while reading KJV. What is more, now you can personalize your study experience by choosing your own set of study resources – Bible, Commentary books, Lexicons, Cross References. The complete version of Mathew Henry's Commentaries for Bible With You integrates with the Bible translations by allowing you when switching from the Bible to the Commentaries to choose whether to go to the corresponding commentary about the active verse, chapter or book.

You can change the active Bible version, book, chapter or verse by tapping on the corresponding field in the Select Book/Select Chapter/Select Verse forms. Your choice of active book is facilitated by having the books colored by groups.

   - Tap on the book abbreviation or chapter/verse number field in the header section.

4.5.2 Graffiti Navigation System

The Graffiti Navigation System allows you to move in the text quickly and conveniently by entering Letters and Numbers with the Virtual Keyboard or the Letter Recognizer.

1. Select a Bible book

   - Enter a letter with the Virtual Keyboard or with the Letter Recognizer

   This will activate the Graffiti Navigation System. The first of all books starting with the letter you have entered will become the active book.

   If there are several books starting with the same letter, their abbreviations will be listed at the bottom of the text area.

   - Now you can choose to enter the next letters of the book abbreviation or to tap on the field with book abbreviations.

   The book is finally defined when you have tapped on its abbreviation or you have entered a consequence of letters that uniquely define it.

   For example, to go to Jeremiah, you need to enter J. All the books starting with J will be listed. The second letter - e – will define uniquely the book as there are no other books' abbreviations starting with Je.

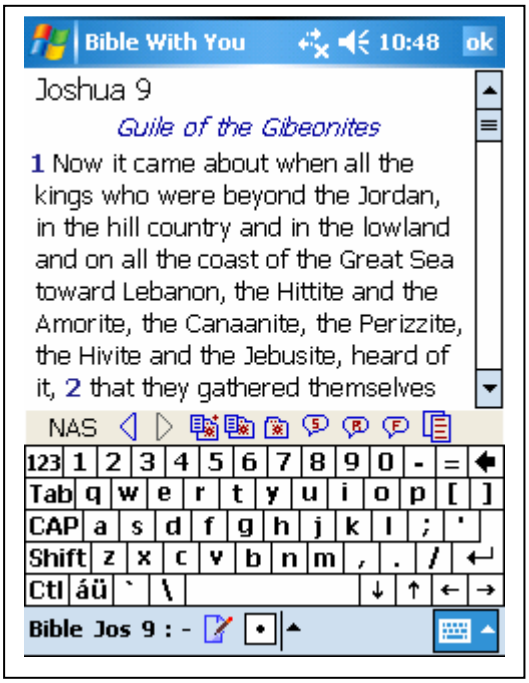
   In case the desired book is the first one in the list, just tap once on the silk screen to confirm and deactivate the Graffiti Navigation System.

Notes:
1. The Graffiti Navigation System is automatically deactivated 5 seconds after you stop entering letters or digits.

2. When you need one book from a set (for example, one of 1Jo, 2Jo, 3Jo), the number of the book is ignored – all three books are interpreted as Jo.
Warning: The only way to point one book from the set is to tap on the field with the corresponding book abbreviation.

2. Select a chapter/verse

2.1 Enter a chapter number



- Enter a digit using the Numeric Graffiti area or the Virtual Keyboard.

This will activate the Graffiti Navigation System.

The Chapter/Verse field at the Command bar will show the digit that was entered. If it is followed by a dash, this is an indication that more digits can be entered to point a chapter number.

- Enter the next digits of the chapter if this is necessary.

For example, if you want to go to Genesis 50, you need to write 5 and then 0.

Note: When you have entered the desired chapter number, but more digits may be entered (for example, chapter 5 out of 50), you can enter a period '.' to confirm.

2.1 Select a verse

Select a verse mode is automatically activated after you have selected a chapter number.

- Continue by entering the digits of the verse number the same way you do for a chapter.

Note: If you need to jump to a verse in the same chapter, enter the period (.) on the Virtual Keyboard to skip entering the chapter number.

Notes:

1. Bible With You automatically monitors the digits that have been entered and if the digits entered for a Chapter/Verse number are not valid, the greatest possible Chapter/Verse will be opened.

For example, if you have entered 57 for a chapter number in Genesis (50 chapters), the navigation system will sound a warning signal and Bible With You will open the last chapter of Genesis - 50.

2. Graffiti Navigation System is automatically disabled 5 seconds after you stop entering letters or digits.

Bible With You 7.23 allows you to add Highlight Bookmarks to passages in the Bible choosing colors for the font, background and the underline.

Bible With You saves each Highlight Bookmark in a special category that has its own colors. This is extremely helpful when you want to have the Highlight Bookmarks on the same subject with the same colors.

What is more, you can add your personal notes to each particular Highlight Bookmark.

Warning: Highlight Bookmarks are being added to a particular Bible translation and may be used only with it. This is because the length of the passage that you bookmark depends on the exact wording of the text in the particular Bible translation. If you change the translation, the wording will be different, so the Highlight Bookmarks you have made and the notes that you have added for them will not apply to the new Bible translation.

1. Leave Pause mode
   - Tap on any hardware button

If, within the time interval set for Auto-off in your device's preferences, you do not leave Pause mode, the application will be exited.

If your device pauses too often, change the interval for auto powering off in your device's Preferences.

7 Study Books

Bible With You integrates a number of additional books for studying the Bible – original language resources, cross-references, commentaries, lexicons, etc.

Study Books are database add-ons for Bible With You and are separate GMPSoft products purchased apart from the application.

Some of them - like the commentary books, are independent from the current Bible translation. Others require a special type of a Bible translation – for example, Hebrew/Greek lexicons must be installed if there is installed a Bible translation that supports Strong's numbers.

For more information about each Study Book, read its product description and its User Guide.

7.1 Cross References

Bible With You supports cross references in the text - links in the text to another verses in the Bible.

Cross references have been made for only a number of Bible translations and therefore are associated with a particular Bible translation -for example, cross references for NASB Bible, for the ESV Bible, etc.

The information about cross references in Bible With You is provided by separate GMPSoft products, Bible Cross References.

When Bible Cross References are activated for the matching Bible translation (for example, Bible Cross References (NASB) and Bible With You (NASB)), cross reference numbers are displayed at the exact places in the verses.

If they are activated for another Bible translation (for example, Bible Cross References (NASB) in Bible With You (ASV)), cross reference numbers are indicated in the beginning of the verse.

1. How to use cross references
    - See section 4.13

7.2 Hebrew/Greek Lexicons

Lexicons are additional study books (and separate GMPSoft products) providing information about the original Hebrew and Greek words, which are indicated by Strong's numbers in the text. Because of that the information in them can be used only by Bible translations which implement Strong's numbers in the text – such as Bible With You (KJVwS) or Bible With You (NASBwS).

Download Hebrew/Greek Lexicons from www.gmpsoft.com

1. View Strong's definitions
   - See section 4.14

7.3 Bible Commentaries

Commentaries are study books providing additional information for each Bible Book, chapter or verse. Commentaries are implemented as database plug-ins, installed and used with Bible With You for any Bible translation.

Get Bible Commentaries With You from our website: www.gmpsoft.com

Notes:
- When a commentary book is installed, Bible With You will display the B, C or V icon selector in the Headline bar ( ). The B, C and V icons indicate commentary entries for the current Book, Chapter or Verse in the Bible.

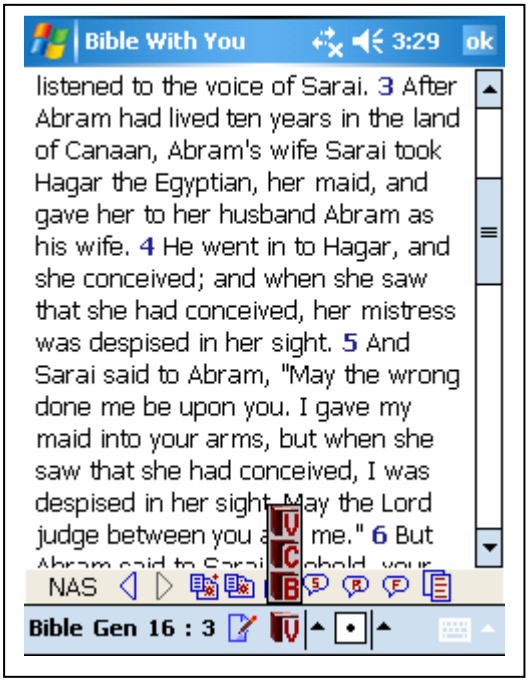
- Some commentary books may provide entries only for verses in the Bible or for verses and chapters. This depends on the particular resource that is used.



1. Go to a verse in the Bible

2. Select to read commentary entry to the current Book, Chapter or Verse
   - Tap on the ▲ button in the Commentary selector icon
